Mats Broberg & Johan Ridderstråle
Creative Directors for Röshults

From our very first designs to our current collection, the Röshults products are influenced by our vision of strength, duration, and elegance through time.

With our proud heritage and a curious mindset, we strive to create beautiful, practical outdoor kitchen solutions for the discerning individual. We are proud to present our Kitchen Island, a custom-made all-in-one outdoor kitchen, combining style and quality with ultimate function. We have further refined our classic BBQ grills and outdoor kitchen products into our new Open Kitchen-concept, which we are excited to introduce. The Garden Moore outdoor series is a future iconic classic, we believe. It has the same contemporary design language that made the Garden Easy series so popular, but is even more sumptuous yet clean and minimalistic.

Presenting our new catalogue, we are looking forward to an exciting future. We are growing, entering new markets, and continuously improving our offering. Our Kitchen Island has become one of our most popular products, and can be seen at distinguished hotels, restaurants, and private terraces across the world. With its unique modular system and distinctive design, it offers an outdoor kitchen perfectly suited to our customers' professional and personal needs. We have further improved our outdoor lounge products, presenting our new Garden Moore collection created for social gatherings and relaxing days.

The journey of Röshults would not have been possible, had it not been for our close-knit team of experts in design and engineering. Our Creative Directors Broberg & Ridderstråle consistently work to preserve and develop our signature design concept combining minimalism and magnificence. With carefully selected materials, distinctive shapes, and a touch of simplicity, they create smart and elegant constructions. Our new Open Kitchen solution is the perfect example, focusing on practicality and style.

Open Kitchen comes with unlimited possibilities, opening up for personal choices and preferences. Inspired by our renowned Kitchen Island, it is a modular system that allows our customers to arrange their selection of kitchen modules in an open unit. The open unit, which comes in three different sizes and can hold up to three modules, is designed to create a versatile outdoor kitchen in perfect balance.
